A POLICEMAN TURNS BURGLAR AND IS PROMPTLY

"RAILROAPED" TO SING SING.
Policeman Charles Rickerd, of the Old-slip juad, was caught in the act of robbing a store on his post early yesterday morning. Overcome by shame at the discovery of his guilt, he asked to be sent to prison as quickly as possible, and twelve hours later he was dressed in a convict suit at Sing Sing. Valuable articles had been issed lately from the auction store of Reilly & McElhinny, No. 83 Nassau-st. The things dis-appeared at night, yet the firm could see no broken locks or other traces of a burglary. Captain McLaughlin made an investigation, and thought the thefts were committed by some person who had a pass-key to the store. The firm gave Cap-tain McLaughlin a pass-key, and he made prepara-tions for catching the thief. He arranged some tall Japanese screens against one wall, and hung curtain over them so as to make a hiding place for Detectives Oates and Nugent.

On Saturday night the two detectives watched in the store and made a discovery which conin the store and made a discovery which convinced them that Rickerd was the robber, but they did not arrest him then. It was decided that Rickerd must be caught in the act. Rickerd was on reserve duty at the Old-slip Statton on Sunday evening, and his next tour of patrol was from midnight until 6 o'clock yesterday morning. Before he got to his post in Nassau-st. Detectives Oates and Nugent were hiding in the auction store. About 2 a m. they heard some one pushing against the door which led to the basement under the store. For more than an hour the detectives heard footsteps in the basement, and judged from the sounds that only one man was there.

STEPPING INTO A TRAP.

The detectives had taken off their shoes, with the idea of going down the basement stairs and sur-the idea of going down the basement stairs and surprising the burglar at work, when he deliberately walked up into the store. From their hiding place the detectives could recognize Rickerd. He lighted the gas in the office, and then began to make an examination of articles in some of the cases. A examination of articles in some of the cases. A silver teapot took his fancy and he wrapped it up. Then he selected haif a dozen silver-plated tablespoons, haif a dozen teaspoons and haif a dozen silver-plated forks, which he placed in the same bundle. It was after 4 a. m. when Rickerd got ready to go. He went out by the basement door and the detectives followed him a few minutes later. They saw him go down into the area of door and the detectives followed him a few minutes later. They saw him go down into the area of a building near Fulton and ran to him. He was taken by surprise and submitted to arrest without a struggle. His booty was still in his possession. When he was taken to the police station he admitted that he had stolen other things from the auction store, and the detectives found them at his home, No. 120 Pearlat.

About 10 a. m. Captain McLaughlin took Rickerd before Superintendent Murray at Headquarters. The prisoner was handcuffed to one of the detectives, "What have you got to say?" Mr. Murray inquired sternly.

The prisoner was handcuned to one of the testives. "What have you got to say?" Mr. Murray inquired sternly.

"Nothing, only that I am guilty and am willing to go to prison as soon as you can send me."

Mr. Murray took the culprit at his word, and went downtown to help "railroad" Rickerd to Sing Sing in the quickest time on record. District-Attorney Fellows agreed to have the case promptly disposed of. He took Superintendent Murray and the detectives at once to the Grand Jury room, an indictment was drawn up, and in a short time the Grand Jury had heard the testimony and ordered an indictment. The foreman and Grand Jurors went to the court-room and the indictment was filed with the clerk. Rickerd was then taken to the General Sessions building. The indictment against him was for burglary in the first degree, burglary in the third degree and grand larceny in the first degree might have been difficult of proof through some technical difficulties, and Rickerd was willing to picad to grand larceny in the first degree. He was arraigned before Recorder Smyth, and the plea of grand larceny was accepted. Superintendent Murray sat beside the Recorder while sentence was pronounced. Rickerd stool stolidly before the bar while his plea was entered.

Rickerd made no movement until the Recorder had finished his remarks, and then he turned and went to the prison-pen. He was quickly hand-cuffed and was taken to the Tembs, and thence to the Grand Central Station, so that he might be in Sing Sing prison within twelve hours of his arrest.

VICTIMS OF MAY-MOVING CONTAGION. MANY PROPLE LEAVING THIS CITY FOR LONG

ISLAND AND JERSEY. a week the May-moving contagion has held its feverish sway in this city and its suburbs. Yesterday ft attacked all classes, mostly sparing the very poor and the very rich and to-day promises no abatement. Careful inquiry yesterday in all parts of the city revealed the fact that a great many families are moving this year, that all the truckmen are busy, and that they get fair prices, although one pessimist was found who complained that there were too many men in the business, and that he had obtained only $2 50 for carting a load of office furniture and a stove from No. 34 Park Row to Chambers-st. The truckmen, unlike the hackmen, are permitted to make any agreement they can as to terms, but may be summoned to the Mayor's office if they attempt to charge more than was agreed The Mayor's Marshal suggests that families intending to move had better contract for the whole job, and not agree to pay so much a load, a latitude that would tempt the honest truckman to make his loads exceed-

Only here and there was a loaded furniture truck seen on the great East Side yesterday afternoon and there were scarcely more signs of May-Day activity on Murray Hill. But in the numbered cross-streets east and west, were one-horse and two-horse carts and covered wagons and great box-vans-scarcely a block that was not ornamented with at least one. Down Lexington-ave, passed all day, borne in magnificent spectacle, the household goods of a mighty people, the "great middle class." The most general moving seemed yesterday to be in the district between Fortysecond and Fifty-ninth sts. The Houston and Grand sts. ferries afford the most direct outlet from New-York to the newer wards of Brooklyn, and during the last week the procession of loaded furniture trucks over these ferries to Brooklyn has been twice as great as from Brooklyn. At the Bridge, too, which has taken away all the moving business of Catharine. Bradley, of Rhode Island, who died at the Buckingham Hotel on Sunday night, will be taken to Providence at 1 o'clock this aftermoon. The funeral will take place at his home in that city to morrow. Judge Bradley was born at New-buryport, Mass., in 1819. He studied at the Boston Latin School and afterward at Brown University, where he was graduated in 1838. He had lived ever since leaving college in Providence, spending most of his time in the practice of the law. He was chosen Chief Jus tice for the State about twenty-five years ago, but resigned the office after a few years, preferring his old practice at the bar. Some years ago he was appointed ecturer in the Harvard Law School, as it was thought advisable that instruction should be given by practical lawyers as well as by the professors. Judge Bradley was one of the most prominent Democrats in Rhode Island and was admired and respected by men of all parties, his election as Chief Jus-tice by a Republican Legislature being regarded as an especially high compliment. He was twice the candidate of his party for member of Congress, but was defeated. WENDEL GRIS A LICENSE FOR LION PARK. In the matter of the renewal of the license for the coming year sought by ex-Alderman Louis Wendel for Lion Park, which has been so strongly opposed by citizens living in the neighborhood of the park grounds, Ninth-ave. and One-hundred-and-eighth-st., Mayor Hewitt has written a letter to the Police Commissioners saying that he has given the matter care ful consideration and concludes that there is no just cause for refusing to grant a concert license, the music to cease not later than 12 o'clock at night. He calls attention, however, to the alleged disorders occurring in the streets and requests that the police force be instructed to arrest any persons found in the neighborhood or around the railway station at One-hundred-and-fourth-st. making unseemly noises late at night. The Mayor thinks that a larger police force should be detailed than heretofore. If the disturbances there continue he will be compelled to revoke the license. Mayor Hewitt said yesterday that he thought it was nearly time for the park to be removed from that locality. He thought that a reasonable time should be allowed to the proprietor to dispose of his interest, and he was therefore disposed to give him another year's grace. Next year, however, if he were Mayor, he would refuse Mr. Wendet a license there.

REVIEWING NEW-YORK'S TRADE. CHERRFUL ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The annual report of the Chamber of Commerce for the year ending April 30 was published yesterday by Secretary George Wilson. It refers with gratification to the expectations of a healthy trade and increasing firmness in the financial situation expressed a year ago as having been borne out in the year under re-ago as having been borne out in the view. The report says:

There has been no further attempt, as in 1886, to create financial distrust by an export of coin in the face of favorable exchanges. The American money market is now, with a strong metallic reserve, beyond the reach of speculative combinations. Surveying the general field, we find the outlook satisfactory, and the promise beyond what we are accustomed to expect in a year of neld, we find the outlook satisfactory, and the profits beyond what we are accustomed to expect in a year of political struggle. Indeed, we anticipate less fluctuations in the future, and a more secure financial rest for all the great industries of the country.

Favorable reports are made on the cotton and breadstuffs trades, and with respect to petroleum it is said:
The salient feature of this trade for the fiscal year, 1887 was a steady and marked decrease in production, estimated at one-third. There has been a large increase in home consumption and some increase in exports. The total value of exports from the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887, was $47,000,000, of which New-York sent $33,000,000-figures not materially differing from those of the year previous.

The report closes with elaborate figures illustrating The report closes with elaborate figures illustrating the growth of New-York City. It says:

The recent messages of the Mayor have properly introduced the consideration of extensive plans of practical alterations, in which sanitary and economic considerations are considered. A Board of Municipal Rapid Transit is proposed, with full powers to control locomotion in the city, open new and improve old theroughfares. Changes in the methods of heating and lighting will be controlled by some harmonique system, and the supply of water be in the methods of heating and lighting will be controlled by some harmonious system, and the supply of water be increased, to the better comfort and greater health of the growing population. The elimination of passion from politics happily conduces to a union of men of all parties in with a public spirit equal to the demands all these changes impose, nothing yet reached in municipal grandeur is beyond the just aspiration of New-York. And here it may be properly asked, if it be not the true policy to unite New-York and all its environs under one general scheme of municipal rule.

WANTING WOMEN FOR COMMISSIONERS COMMITTEE URGES MATOR CHAPIN TO PUT SOME ON THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Mayor Chapin received a visit yesterday from a ommittee which urged upon him the advisability of appointing women as members of the Board of Educaion, fifteen places in which he will soon fill. The women on the committee were Mrs. A. K. Wing, Mrs. H. M. Goff, Miss Emma Low, Mrs. W. W. Chapman and Mrs. I. H. Cary, and they were accompanied by the Rev. Dr. Storrs, General S. L. Woodford and F. W. Hinrichs, who were appointed at a recent publie meeting to act in the matter. Dr. Storrs said that the committee represented many persons. It was not a political action nor an effort to extend the movement for suffrage for women. But the introduction of women in the Board of Education might elevate its character, and women had more time and leisure to devote to educational interests than men. There were fifty women teachers to each man teacher and the former should have some voice in the control of school interests.

F. W. Hinrichs said that although a majority of the women teachers opposed any change in the Board he believed it would be of advantage to the members of the body to have women associated with them in their duties. Mr. Hinrichs was formerly a member of their duties. Mr. Hinrichs was formerly a member of the Board.

When the Mayor asked if there were any women willing to accept the position, Mrs. Cary promised to submit a list of names on condition that they were not to be published unless appointments were made. Mrs. Cary so strongly urged the matter of appointing women in the Board that she told the Mayor that the step might make him Governor. He was visibly embarrassed, but answered that he did not know how that entered into the problem. Mayors Low and Whitney declined to act upon similar suggestions for the appointment of women on the Board.

PRESERVE YOUR COMPLEXION. The combination of the Oils and Alkali (Soda) must be complete to form a perfect or true soap, such as will not burn, or redden and irritate the skin. The Ivory

Soap is 99100 % pure, which insures its being perfectly harmless, and will leave the skin clear, white and velvety.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';"
they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
